A LOAN is frequently a luxury.
REFUNDING is correct business management.

THE Portuguese petitioners still have their ears at the telephone.

HOME capital should have the first and best chance at Government securities.

IF THE policy indicated by taxing a V. M. C. A. is followed up Hawaii is in danger of losing her missionary reputation.

IN ORDER that nothing shall escape upon which it is possible to levy, the Government might tax its own assets.

A VISIT to the water front at any hour now will convince the seeker for knowledge of the demand for a Greater Harbor for Honolulu.

THE Cuban rebels have business acumen along with their fighting ability. They are having an issue of postage stamps printed in New York.

THERE can be no argument against a Loan Act if the advocates show that it is, all things considered, as good a scheme as a private concern would ask.

HOW extremely fortunate that the Land Act, protecting the Republic's acres from the tentacles of the Grabber, was made a law at the Special Session.

HOORAY! HOORAY! The Registration act is now a law. The competition to American and European laborers, mechanics and shopkeepers will cease at once.

ONE of the best things done by the Senate so far was to provide that a poor man could "work out" his poll tax. Speed the day when the primitive head tax shall become a memory.

THE Legislators have only to realize and remember that their labors will be measured by the results achieved. A statute is not of the fleeting nature of an argument in the Assembly.

IT MIGHT be well for "all hands" to recall from time to time these days that lawmakers are now in Hawaii without any intervening authority, institution or sovereignty.

HAWAIIAN capital is cold blooded as the same factor abroad. A few of the men of money in the Islands are going into coffee. The majority of them are waiting for the pioneers to fly the flag of distress.

IT WAS verging on the brutal for Representative Robertson to remark that women and children had signed the petitions against Sunday target practice because they didn't know any better. But he was a trifle more than half right.

THE STAK has been thinking for a week that the Fund and Bond debate had about reached the stage where advocates of a certain plan would begin to whimper that unless their ideas were adopted all prospects for annexation would be blasted.

WHERE, Oh, where are the philanthropists, boomers, promoters, "enterprising citizens," etc., etc., who were aching of the necessity for city electric transit when the snap franchise was up at the Special Session.

THE amount which the Senate proposes to squeeze in taxes from the Y. M. C. A. will drain one of two sources. It may be cut off from the sum total freely given for the youth of the country. It may occur as a special demand upon generosity. The "principle" for which the opponents of exemption contend cannot be discovered by laymen. It will require a magnifying glass of extraordinary power to locate the sectarianism in the institution. In other countries, Canadian Catholic communities for instance, the effort to justify this far-fetched objection has been abandoned. Friends of the Y. M. C. A. will now appeal to the House.

DRAWING THE LINES.

In the House of Representatives at Washington Mr. Cortis of Michigan has introduced a bill making it unlawful for aliens residing or retaining their homes in foreign countries to enter the United States for the purpose of engaging in any mechanical trade or manual labor within the borders thereof while residing or retaining their homes in foreign countries; making it unlawful to employ aliens so residing or retaining homes in foreign countries; also making it unlawful for aliens, except subjects of the dominion of Canada and other American countries, to enter the country except at United States custom ports of entry on the Atlantic and Pacific coast.

Of Waterways.

RIVER AND HARBOR APPROPRIATION BILL NEARLY FINISHED BY THE HOUSE COMMITTEE.

Fifty Thousand Dollars Provided by the Expended Upon It During the Coming Year.

EVIDENCES OF LOGROLLING.

The above is a heading to a dispatch received by the N. Y. Herald as a report of the doing of the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The House and Senate of these Islands seem to be on a "saving tack" by the way they are cutting some of the appropriations and salaries. What do they intend doing with all of this money that should be used in public improvement of some kind? Why not make a greater harbor for Honolulu? The demand for one has been brought very forcibly to the eyes of the public in the last few months on account of the number of vessels that have called here for sugar.

Docks could be put up on ground that today is of comparatively small value, but in the years to come might have to be purchased at a very high figure.

In the future when ships from European countries bound for the Orient utilize the Nicaragua Canal, Honolulu will be in their most direct and shortest path and a great many will depend upon stocking up here with provisions. Others will take cargo for these Islands in conjunction with Oriental freight. Then the benefits of ample dockage and a larger harbor will be derived.

Last week in order to satisfy ourselves as to the merits of the "NEW PROCESS" BLUE FLAME COAL Oil Stove we decided to try its cooking and baking qualities. We gave it a most thorough test and in both the baking and roasting we were agreeably disappointed.

One of the gentlemen present, by invitation, became so enthusiastic that he wanted to send the stove to his home at once.

No. 105 NEW PROCESS.

The advantage of the "NEW PROCESS" Blue Flame Coal Oil Stove over the gasoline stove is the first cost of the material used. There is nearly one dollar's difference in cost in favor of coal oil. A case of gasoline (10 gallons) will only last two weeks, while an equal quantity of coal oil used in the "NEW PROCESS" will last a month.

This estimate is made on the basis of the stoves cooking three meals a day, the dinner to be comprised of the full number of courses.

We have these stoves in two styles. The number "105" is as per the above cut and consists of three burners. This stove is very convenient for a medium sized family, having all the fixtures used on the larger stove. In the above cut the oven is shown in position for baking or roasting.

When not in use for either it can be conveniently pushed back and the burner used for other purposes. The weight of the "105" is only 130 pounds and costs complete $22.50.

The No. 106 stove is exactly the same as the "105" except that it has four burners instead of three. The cost of the "106" is $25 complete. The weight is 140 pounds.

All the burners can be used for cooking at the same time. The wick raiser is strong and positive in its action. One wick will last a whole season with constant use if proper care is taken. The enameling and decorations are of the highest order.

W. W. DIMOND'S

The local in the morning paper, the other day, to the effect that our clerks were busy until midnight placing steamer goods was not a joke—it was a hard, cold fact. Such an aggregation of implements for the garden you never saw.

Shovels and spades, hoes and rakes, lawn mowers, regular high grass cutters, at $9.50, that will cause your yard man to ask for a decrease in his wages; garden wheelbarrows and garden hose that last so long that it is an injury to our business to sell it, forms a stock that you will wonder how we get the goods.

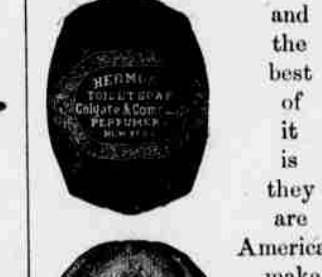

It is the natural way to prove prices by comparison, but we are scrupulously careful that the price comparisons we mention to you when you come in. No successful competition is successful now. Any store can meet the Dimond price on a single item—by losing money; no other store can meet the collection at any price.

W. W. Dimond.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Monograms For Carriages, Violins and Lemons the Garish to Finger Bows.

ALPACA COSTUME. worn during the spring and on cool days in the summer. They are made up usually in the tailor style. The new silks are very beautiful. The mirror ground is covered with palm leaves and other figures woven in the goods, white delicate flower patterns are mingled with the brocade design. Changeable rainbow effects of the most dainty and artistic description render these fabrics fairly like in appearance. The breadth of many of the new silks open to show a shawl, or side panels, of different materials. For light and delicate gowns of platings of mousseline de sole on lace are liked for this purpose. The coming summer is to signalize an immense success for tulle, which is to be employed in every conceivable way. The gown shown in the sketch is of gray alpaca, trimmed with green glass taffeta. The plain skirt is adorned on either side with two longwise scarfs of silk, ending in a fan and fastened down by metal buckles. The house dress is laid in plaits at the waist. A bias band of silk, bordered by narrow passementerie, crosses the front of the bodice, and the puffs of the sleeves are similarly adorned. Epaulettes, arranged in scarf fashion like the trimming on the skirt, pass over the shoulders. The draped collar is of black tulle, fastened by two metal slides.

CARE OF THE WARDROBE.

Air Your Clothes and Don't Forget to Give Them a Good Brushing. Gloves must be pulled in shape as soon as they are taken off and not put away till they are dried. They should always be removed from the hand by turning them wrong side out from the wrist up, not by tugging at the fingers. In the shops they always turn them, as the other method ruins the shape and is likely to injure the kid. The best way to preserve the crispness of veils is by rolling them up in long, narrow sachets made for the purpose. The tulle is straightened out, folded, laid on the sachet and rolled up with it and the whole tied with a ribbon fastened to the outside of the veil case. All cloths and dressings need frequent airing and airings. Clothing, too, should be exposed now and again, just as you sun your bedding. That is one of the most sweetening measures in the world. Dress waist linings can be kept wonderfully nice if, in addition, you occasionally wipe them off with a cloth dampened with very weak cloudy household ammonia. Of course the shades should be frequently changed. A bodice should never be put away after it is worn until it is thoroughly aired by being spread inside out upon a chair back. After it is completely dry it may be brushed and hung in the closet. The little trouble entailed by the proper care of clothing is amply repaid by the freshness and neatness of appearance that result. An illustration is given of a rather elaborate damask. The skirt is of white silk batiste embroidered with gold and pearls and is made over a lower skirt of rose satin, which is cut with gores. The bodice, of old point over rose satin, is open in front over a drapery of black tulle, the Y shaped decoration being fastened at the point by a brooch of brilliants. The belt is of black satin, closed in front with a bow and a jeweled buckle. The balloon sleeves, of rose liberty velvet, are draped by a chain of black satin, and the close collar is of black satin. ## Rheumatism

Nothing which we have heretofore sold has given the satisfaction that "Sequah's Oil" and Cure has given for the treatment of this common complaint, rheumatism. Sequah's medicines have established for themselves a reputation which is remarkable. Hundreds of afflicted people have been cured of rheumatism by using these remedies. The Oil will relieve the pain, sometimes in almost a magical manner. The Cure is recommended for driving the impurities out of the blood; which causes rheumatism, and as long as the blood remains impure, attacks of rheumatism will occur. It will pay any one troubled with rheumatism to give these remedies a thorough trial because they have cured others and therefore you are most likely to derive benefit from them. Try them now.
